Subject: Sunday Worship

To: Rosetown United Church Congregation

Effective June 8, 2020 Phase 3 of the Re-open Saskatchewan Plan will allow places of worship to resume in person worship services provided social distancing and all other provincial regulations are followed. The allowable number attending will be 1/3 of the defined occupancy rate of the facility to a maximum of 30 individuals. However, both Living Sky Regional Council executive and our National United Church, have strongly recommended that we not open to in person worship at this time and be very cautious about other building uses.

We are further advised that while regional council can assist, any decision and plans we make in this regard must be made by our governing body. Council committee chair persons met with Rev. Allan Gairns June 1, 2020 and decided we would not hold in person worship services at this time but would continue with our weekly on line Sunday service. Rev. Allan Gairns and our secretary Sue Morris will continue to keep regular office hours. Access to the building will continue to be available but all provincial guidelines including social distancing will be in effect and must be followed to keep our staff safe.

Thank you to Rev. Allan Gairns and staff for keeping our church offices open to deal with ongoing matters of the church. Special thanks to Rev. Allan, his wife Theresa, Brenda Hamilton and members of the choir for providing such special on line worship services for all of us to enjoy in the comfort of our homes.

Council Chair
